Navitas to become internationalisation partner of Queens College, The City University of New York

Global education provider, Navitas Limited (ASX: NVT), is pleased to announce that it has signed an agreement with Queens College of The City University of New York (CUNY), to support its internationalisation strategy.

CUNY is New York City's public university. Queens College, the second largest of CUNY's 11 senior colleges, offers over 100 undergraduate and graduate degree programs from a leafy 80-acre campus with state-of-the-art facilities, located in the New York City borough of Queens.

The agreement provides for Navitas to operate a Global Student Success Program for Queens College (QC-GSSP) on its campus in Queens, New York, USA. The QC-GSSP will support the transition of international students to a US university environment and prepare them for future academic success. Students who successfully complete the QC-GSSP will continue their undergraduate or graduate degree studies at Queens College.

In addition to recruiting international students to attend the QC-GSSP, Navitas will also recruit eligible international students for direct entry into Queens College's degree programs. The agreement is for an initial five-year term with potential extensions for an additional five years.

"Navitas is delighted to be partnering with Queens College, which is a leading institution in the United States for the quality and value of its academic programs and student achievement. We are excited to support the College with its internationalisation strategy, which will enable more students from around the world to benefit from the excellent academic programs and vibrant student life that Queens College and the New York City area have to offer," said Navitas Group CEO, David Buckingham.

Queens College Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs Elizabeth Hendrey said, "With a campus located in America's most ethnically diverse county and students from more than 150 nations, we are looking forward to beginning a partnership with Navitas. We are eager to work together to increase the global perspective of our campus community and provide students worldwide with greater access to a high-quality Queens College education."

Queens College will be Navitas' eleventh North American partner.

The ultimate success of this agreement (and its significance to Navitas) will depend on a number of factors including, but not limited to:

- the number of students Navitas recruits for the QC-GSSP and Queens College degree programs
- the quality of student outcomes and experience, including the number of QC-GSSP students who progress to Queens College degree programs
- the attractiveness of Queens College's location and ranking to international students
- the competitiveness of the US regulatory environment for international students.

Group CEO, David Buckingham added “Students from around the globe bring immeasurable value to our university partners through the internationalisation of their campuses. The diverse perspectives they bring provide great benefit to domestic and other international students alike. Navitas remains committed to supporting the internationalisation goals of our US university partners, now including Queens College, as we continue to see great opportunities for growth in and demand for international education in the United States.”
